Area Cotton Men Prepare To Fight Pest

GROWERS PLAN TO KEEP LOSS TO WEEVILS AND WORMS TO MINIMUM BY CAMPAIGN

Hamlin area cotton producers were getting ready to cooperate in county-wide campaign to save cotton from insects that threaten severe damage within the next few weeks, it was reported to The Herald this week by L. E. Ellwood, chairman of the Texas Cotton Production Committee. The campaign is part of a state movement to organized in many Texas cotton growing counties, and offers one of the best opportunities for preventing the annual loss of one-seventh of the crop to pests, says Ellwood.

As the cotton crop grows in Jones County the danger grows. Heavy infestation has been reported in some South Texas counties, and fear is expressed that the insects will move northward.

"Organized programs, such as those many county agents have underway, add to the effectiveness of insect control on each individual farm and to the total value of control efforts," the committee points out. "Prompt action is essential, however, as supplies of insecticides are limited, and the danger from insects increases daily.

In 1945, cotton insects are estimated by authorities to have destroyed 538,000 bales of line cotton and 219,000 tons of cottonseed, in Texas alone. In addition to financial loss to growers, this represented heavy losses of cottonseed oil, cottonseed feed products and other scarce and needed products of the cotton plant.

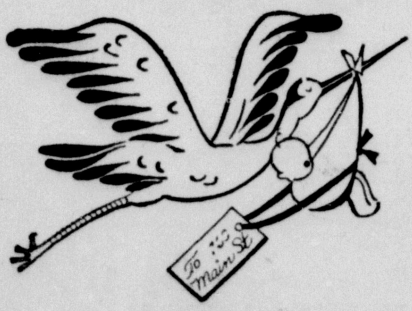

The committee urged that cotton farmers, ginners, business men and others in each cotton community cooperate with their county agricultural agent in county-wide control measures against boll weevils and other pests.

DOC DOOD IT AGAIN

Doc Neal did it again! We mean he made another record fish catch at Moore Lake.

Last Wednesday evening, between 5:00 and 6:00 o'clock, Doc was casting with rod and reel for the finny tribe, using artificial lure for bait, when the largest cat fish snagged at the Moore Lake, one mile west of Hamlin, snapped his chompers on the lure. Then it was a merry time Doc had, straining the 15-pound test line. It required 15 minutes to land the critter, that tipped official scales of F. E. Cobble, lake-keeper, at 23 pounds.

Neal caught the record bass—a nine-pounder—at Moore Lake about five weeks ago.

Town Closes Tight for 4th Celebration

MOST FOLKS STAY AT HOME, SCORES GO TO STAMFORD, OTHERS PICNIC AND FISH

With closing of practically all the business houses in Hamlin in observance of Independence Day Thursday, most people of the community were taking advantage of the Fourth of July holiday to relax and rest from the work-a-day duties prior to the national holiday.

Relatives and friends were here visiting in many homes. In other cases, some Hamlin folks availed themselves of the opportunity to go to see "Aunt Susie, Grandma and Cousin Charlie."

Hamlin lakes were scheduled to find a good representation of fishermen of not only Hamlin but from other folks of the section, who have heard of the reputation for fine fish catches in the past. Picnics and outings of one sort and another were on tap for the citizenry.

The one outstanding sporting event slated to attract scores of Hamlin people out of town was the Texas Cowboy Reunion at Stamford. Reports in Hamlin first of the week indicated the largest list of contest entries in the history of the famous rodeo. Jessie Myers was appearing as cowgirl sponsor from Hamlin.

Jimmy Don Lassiter, Hamlin Boy, Hurt as Auto Strikes Bicycle

Jimmy Don Lassiter, 11-year-old son of Mrs. Mary Lassiter who lives one mile south of Hamlin, is in a Stamford hospital for treatment of injuries sustained Monday morning when he was struck by a car while riding a bicycle.

The accident occurred about 8:30 o'clock 12 miles north of Hamlin on the Aspermont highway near the home of his great uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Smith. His bicycle was struck by an automobile driven by Frank Hugh Jones of Abilene.

Mrs. Lassiter said neither her son nor Mr. Jones saw each other before the mishap.

The boy's left leg was broken in three places.

The Abilene man brought the boy to Hamlin, and continued to Stamford with him and his mother.

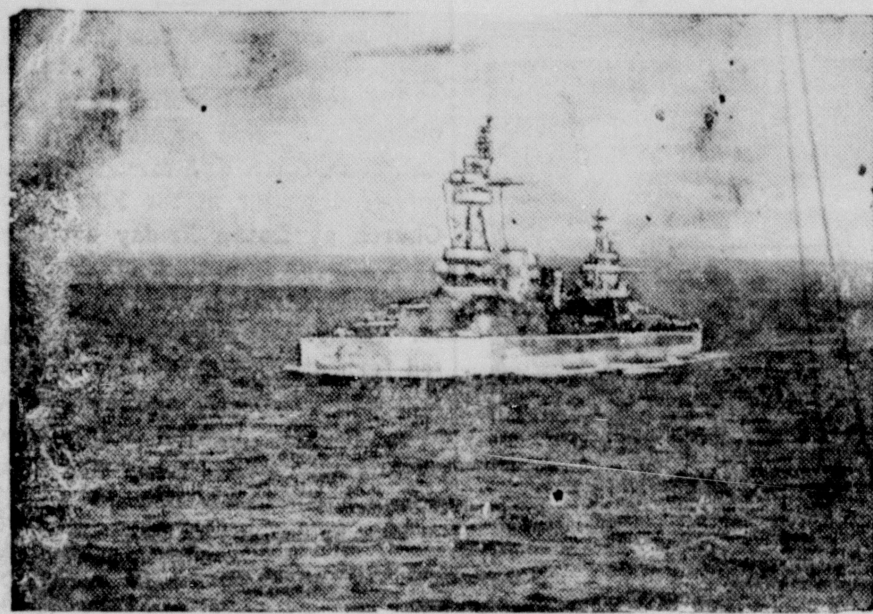

Hospital attendants Tuesday said the boy's condition was good.

In the atomic bomb tests Sunday in the Bikini Atoll of the South Pacific, the most shattering bomb demonstration in the history of the universe failed to send the central target ship, the USS Battleship Nevada, above, to the bottom. She was still burning Tuesday as crews were fighting flames so that first-hand observations on the ship could be made for determining effects of the bomb. Five other ships in the target area were sunk.

SCHOOL TAX ROLLS REACH $2,200,000 IN 1946 RENDITION

Tax rolls for the Hamlin Independent School District for 1946 have been completed, according to school board members, and renditions now stand at $2,200,000. Tax rate for this year's taxes will be $1.25 per $100 property valuation, as compared with the previous maximum of $1.50.

School board officials declare that the $1.25 rate will take care of all nominal expenses of the school for several years in the future, including retirement of old and new bonds against the school district.

Renditions for the district last year totaled $1,950,000. The $700,000 increase in renditions has been made by equalizing of renditions on much property in the district as well as addition to the rolls of new property that has been erected during the past year.

Hearings on renditions will be announced within a few days by the school board, should property owners wish to contest alterations in valuations, it was stated this week. Few contestants, if any, are expected to object to the nominal raises.

Colored Baseball Team Downs Spur Nine 8 to 3

Hamlin Invaders, colored baseball aggregation that has been "setting the woods afire" with brilliant playing on the diamonds of this section, trounced a Spur nine 8 to 3 in a fast-paced game Sunday afternoon at the Hamlin city ball park. A nice size crowd attended the game.

Stamford was supposed to have furnished Sunday's competition, but when it became known late Saturday that Stamford might not appear, the Spur game was matched. The locals got five hits, and scored the eight markers with four errors by the Spur team.

An Abilene team will try to break the locals' winning streak Sunday afternoon at Abilene.

No One Hurt as Truck With Horses Overturns

It was a matter of choice with Cliff Butler, driver of a stock truck belonging to R. M. Myers, when the truck, loaded with 16 head of horses, overturned Friday afternoon in the east edge of Hamlin. To avoid hitting the Santa Fe "doodle-bug" passenger train, running north, Butler turned off the left side of the pavement.

One of the horses, being shipped to Fort Worth by P. A. Springfield, was seriously injured, and the driver escaped unhurt. Damages to the truck were estimated at $600.

Reaction of Hamlin Community People to OPA Demise Is One of Wonder

Most Hamlin area people were this week maintaining an air of "wait and see" when quizzed about what they thought the effect of the apparent lifting of OPA restrictions on price of goods would have on their individual lives.

Most people were concerned over the possibility of increased prices in cost-of-loving commodities, although no immediate reflections of such increases were apparent in local stores.

Reports from over the nation, as contained in the daily press and by radio ranged from mild concern to glee over knowledge that the nation would be without any OPA after Sunday, when the OPA regulations that have persisted for several years expired.

Nowhere was there any buying rush reports stated. Department stores, markets and other businesses reported normal volume—some even lower than usual.

Saturday business in Hamlin was about as usual, local merchants reported. In fact, crowds of farmers and stockmen of the area were probably a little smaller than usual because the farming weather was good and producers were busy in their fields.

Merchants said the comments from customers were very few and that those showed little interest in the fate of the OPA.

Reports from the nation indicated that there were signs that hoarded stocks of meats, clothing and lumber would come out of hiding in the big wholesale centers. Business men felt that prices would go up for a time but would come back to moderate levels as soon as supply and demand were adjusted.

Clothing dealers expected immediate filling of their back orders by the manufacturers at somewhat higher prices than would have been expected previously. Orders have been accepted during recent weeks on the following terms: "At existing OPA prices at time of delivery," gambling upon the OPA's death or relaxing.

Markets were being told by packing houses that unlimited orders can be filled.

Lumber dealers were the most outspoken in their hopes that the OPA is really through. They said the lumber industry would be a lot better off without the OPA.

"Chester Bowles' resignation is the greatest blessing the nation has received in a long time," said one lumberman.

Members of the lumber industry predicted that the elimination of OPA would reduce the cost of building homes. It was explained that black market prices on materials are at such a high peak the legitimate dealers probably will not raise their prices to any such level.

Common lumber consisting of such items as No. 2 shiplap and 2x4's was selling on the black market at $125 to $150 per 1,000 feet, while legitimate dealers were getting $75, it was reported. Oak flooring brought $300 on the black market, and only $145 per 1,000 on the legal basis.

The long sleeves ended in points over the hands with a row of tiny self-covered buttons as trim. For "something old" the bride carried a linen handkerchief trimmed with tatting which was made by her grandmother 38 years ago. "Something new" was a rhinestone necklace, a gift of the bridegroom. She carried a cascade arrangement of gardenias on a white Bible. Her net veil fell from a coronet of pearlized orange blossoms.

Good Living Conditions Being Provided Army Enlistees, States Hall

"Good living conditions are sought by all Americans today," Captain Wayne Hall, U. S. Army recruiting officer, stated in a special release to The Herald this week. "And the regular Army gives you that in good measure during peace-time. With the post-war Army greatly reduced, many of the isolated emergency posts that were hastily built during the war years will be inactivated," he said. Recruits from the Hamlin area are being taken by recruiters at the Hamlin City Hall.

"Many of the post-war regular Army soldiers will be assigned to one of the big permanent Army posts and will live more comfortably than any other soldier in the world," Hall continued.

"Single men will find well constructed barracks, conveniently located and well heated, well lighted, well ventilated. Married men in the first three non-commissioned grades will find that the Army is making every effort to give them that domestic comfort and security that is to be found in normal times in civilian life. Many of the posts have already established housing units for the married men and their families, complete with all utilities both in the continental United States and overseas. More and more are being built so that the married soldiers and their families may live in comfort. Men of the post-war regular Army will find that every effort is made to see that their quarters are modern and comfortable," Captain Hall concluded.

No one will ever make a married man believe that women are a dime a dozen.

Post Office Tightening Rules for Parcel Post

No parcel post packages destined for foreign countries will be handled by the post office in the future unless each package conforms to packing requirements for both inner and outer container, Postmaster Perry Sparks has announced.

"Many complaints are being received from foreign countries concerning the damaged condition of packages. Many are in such condition that the contents are rendered useless. This is mainly due to inadequate packing," Postmaster Sparks said.

RECREATION ONE OF HEATH'S ASSETS

America generally has become known at home and abroad as a people of leisure—ease-loving and non-exerting—and, coupled with the stomach-punishing irregular eating habits of our race, we are losing much of our stamina and robust bodies. We are not exercising enough to keep our bodies fit.

But the Hamlin Junior Chamber of Commerce decided to do something about the inactivity of some of our folks. With the starting of the softball league, scores of our people in the community are getting some of that much needed exercise. The Jaycees are helping belt-lines and the general fitness of the young to middle age men.

The men-folks aren't by themselves in the activity programs. Groups of young women have caught the spirit and are playing ball regularly. It'll make them slimmer and trimmer—and feel better too.

INSECTS TAKE ONE-SEVENTH OF COTTON

Local and state agricultural workers and entomologists point to the prospect of heavy infestation of the cotton crop by insects of various kinds this year. Warnings of preparedness to combat the insects have been issued to cotton raisers to keep alert to progress of infestation.

Statistics revealed that last year about one-seventh of the total cotton crop in Texas was destroyed by boll worms, boll weevils and other pests. This is a terrible penalty the cotton farmer must pay for the privilege of growing and harvesting his crop.

We daresay that if the average farmer lost one-seventh of his calf crop or one-seventh of his sheep, he would do something drastic to curb the loss. We in this territory has come to expect to give up a good share of our crop to insects, and are doing little about it.

With cotton and cottonseed bringing all-time highs in price, it is economy to spend a tidy sum to combat the insects that will take many times the cost of counter measures.

HAMLIN SCHOOLS WANT TO HELP AREA

Recent moves to consolidate area schools with the Hamlin system of education has been one to raise the standards of the smaller schools of the territory, and to offer the pupils of those other sections better facilities than were offered them in the smaller districts.

Hamlin schools have had practically nothing to gain in the mergers. In fact, the increased enrollments will put added burdens of responsibility on the officials and teachers of the Hamlin system. To be sure, every consolidation movement has come about by a petition being signed by a group of school patrons and parents in the smaller district presented to the Commissioners Court urging calling of such election.

A Herald representative overheard a statement by a Hamlin citizen the other day inferring that the Hamlin schools were endeavoring to "gobble up" the smaller schools of the region. Facts lend no substantiation to such a statement.

Hamlin wants to be a good neighbor to the surrounding territory. If our school facilities can be expanded to offer the smaller schools hereabouts better equipper schools with more advantages, than the communities really are the great beneficiaries.

LESSON IN DISTRIBUTION CAN BE TAUGHT

Sale of surplus war property is a sad lesson in distribution that the nation will long remember. Politics, mismanagement, cumbersome rules and general confusion have nearly blocked the sale of billions of dollars worth of material which the country desperately needs. Everything from blankets to tractors is rotting away in supply dumps, in spite of the fact that everyone wants it moved quickly, including the officials in charge of the surplus disposal program.

The lesson is that an efficient retail distribution system cannot be set up overnight. Moreover, it cannot be set up at all if it is burdened with red tape. The government could probably learn a few things from the retail distribution industry. This industry has been working for years to develop the most efficient methods of moving goods from producer to consumer. Of course, unlike the government, private distributors are compelled to seek efficiency or sacrifice a slim margin of profit. Some of the larger chains have developed distribution to such a fine art that they are able to operate on profit margins of less than one per cent of sales. They do it because they have learned to handle mountainous volumes of goods with a minimum of waste motion. And they try to have what consumers want at the right place and at the right time.

The job of distributors is doubly difficult at the present time, partly because they must fight an uphill battle to convince government regulators such as the OPA that excessive red tape and unnecessary rules are anathema to efficient distribution, a fact that has nearly wrecked the government's distribution of surplus property.

Duty is carrying on promptly and faithfully the affairs now before you. It is to fulfill the claims of today.—Goethe.

WHAT CONTEMPORARIES ARE SAYING

PAID NOT TO WORK

Abuse of the unemployment compensation system was inevitable from the start, but the country was hardly on notice that it would become a sweeping evil. "Many former war workers have drawn unemployment compensation benefits since V-J Day instead of seeking employment," said an expert in testifying before the House Ways and Means Committee recently in Washington. It is remembered that a great many war workers drew exaggerated wages or salaries and in many instances that work kept them out of the armed services.

Some sort of a practical test of the efficiency of the unemployment benefit plan should be devised. Over a year ago the German end of the war was over, and almost nine months have passed since Japan went under. Meanwhile the call for workers of almost every sort has been strong over the country. Why does a person capable of holding a war-time job spurn employment in peace-time? These hangers-on should be reminded that unemployment pay was intended as a stop-gap and not as a permanent resource.—Tulsa, Oklahoma, World.

PLENTY OF PRODUCE AVAILABLE TO MEET NEEDS OF COUNTY

Jones County residents will offset short supply of meat, wheat, fats and oils by consuming nearly 13,008,000 pounds of the nation's bumper fresh fruit and vegetable crop to maintain high nutritional standards this year, it was predicted this week by a leading food distributor in a special release to The Herald.

"Fresh fruits and vegetables will adequately supplement the limited supplies of many foods now available," he said. "Increased use of perishable produce will permit shipment of other foods to those in hunger-ridden nations now subsisting on daily diets ranging from 1,000 to 1,500 calories as compared with an average of 3,300 calories for this country."

Part of the fresh fruits and vegetables consumed by Jones County residents comes from this county's 2,179 farms and neighboring growers. Large amounts of perishables are received from other sections to meet the county's year-round needs. Development of more efficient distribution methods has helped double fresh fruit and vegetable consumption in the past 25 years.

Basing his estimates on preliminary indications of food production and consumption for 1946, the distributor said that each person in the country will eat an average of 1,695 pounds of food this year. This represents a 10 per cent increase over the 1935-39 average, with fresh fruits and vegetables accounting for nearly one-third of the food to be consumed, he added.

SANTA FE REGION CROPS SUFFER FROM LACK OF MOISTURE

Although the Hamlin area is the center of a section of good crops generally, the July 1 agricultural report of the Santa Fe Railway for territory covered by the railroad shows a poor condition as a whole.

Excerpts from the report, as submitted to The Herald this week, follow:

"While drouth is still holding on in Northwest Texas, and much of this region is extremely dry, several localities have had sufficient moisture lately to help growing crops and range grasses. General rains, however, are badly needed.

Wheat harvest is about completed below the caprock, will end on the South Plains by July 10, and on the North Plains a week later. Yields are topping early figures and the last official estimate of 46,156,000 bushels is a gain of more than 10,000,000 bushels since May 1.

A large percentage of the northwest Texas cotton acreage has been planted, the report continues, some of it in soil too dry to sprout the seed, and moisture is needed for satisfactory growth. Dry weather is also delaying the planting and cultivation of feed crops, a situation that can only be relieved by rain within the next two weeks.

Think This Over.

CLEAN RANGE VITAL TO CONTROL AMONG FLOCK OF DISEASE

Clean range not only gives a boost to profits by cutting down feed bills, Hamlin area poultry raisers are advised, but also minimizes chances for disease to undercut the financial gain on your flock. Your chicks should have range that is not contaminated by previous flocks, and also should be isolated from older birds which often are disease carriers, poultry experts advise raiser through a release to The Herald.

One of the great killers of young poultry is fowl leukosis, commonly called range paralysis. Thus far no better method has been discovered for avoiding this dreaded disease than by segregating the young flock from old birds, and keeping them on completely clean range. Clean range helps eliminate other diseases as well, but its importance in preventing leukosis is particularly noteworthy.

Grounds used by a flock a year ago may be a source of tuberculosis, cholera, worms and any one of numerous other diseases. Once contaminated, range is not considered to be completely free of the infecting organisms for two or three years. After that length of time the sun, wind and rain will have sterilized the soil, and it should be safe again to use the land as range.

Owners of comparatively small flocks can easily isolate their young birds from the older stock by fencing off the area in which the range is to be located. As the birds grow and require more room, they can be moved to other ground, but if they are allowed free range care should be taken that the brooder house is far enough from other buildings to prevent the chicks from wandering into areas frequented by adult birds. Failure to take this precaution may nullify all previous efforts to prevent the spread of disease among the chicks.

Best results in preventing disease by isolation are obtained when the chicks are not allowed to come into contact with the hens for the full five or six months range period. If this is not possible, maintain the segregation for the very longest time conditions will permit. Other things being equal, your flock morality will be low enough to reward you for your patience and care.

COTTON ACREAGE IN COUNTY MAY REACH AVERAGE THIS YEAR

Despite unfavorable conditions of various kinds this year, cotton acreage in the Hamlin territory and the rest of Jones County may reach the average of the past several years, according to estimates of the office of H. C. Stanley Jr., county agent.

Even much of the land that was idle during war periods and before when farmers were paid for non-planting, has been put back into production for 1946. Texas, it is reported, has planted less acreage to cotton this year.

Cotton acreage for the 1946 season in the Cotton Belt as a whole probably will reach the 20,000,000 figure, the National Cotton Council's production and marketing division forecasts. This figure represents an increase of approximately 15 per cent over last year's acreage of 17,749,000.

The Council said that hoped-for high yields of lint per acre may be materially affected by poor weather conditions during May, when cool, wet weather did much to offset the initial advantage gained by favorable conditions during the early spring months.

Indications now are that boll weevil infestation of the crop will be heavy, but should June prove to be hot and dry, damage by the insect pest will be reduced.

CULLING HEN FLOCK WILL PUT SUMMER PRODUCTION ON PAY

Hamlin section poultry raisers are reminded by County Agent H. C. Stanley Jr. that any hen laying less than a dozen eggs a month is losing money for her owner, considering prevailing prices of feed and eggs. These inefficient hens should be culled from laying flocks, the agent advises farm families and backyard poultry raisers of the state.

A hen consumes about five pounds of feed per month even though she is not laying, so further reduction of laying flocks is being sought by the government in view of current feed shortage. For the nation as a whole, the reduction sought is one of every seven hens.

According to Agent Stanley, most Texas flocks could lose one of every seven hens, and with proper culling, profits would increase. Until recently, he says, Texas egg production this year has exceeded last year's for the same period, although the state has reduced its poultry population to or below pre-war numbers. This indicates a rise in production per bird.

While chick production this spring was 20 per cent less than last year, with good management an average number of pullets should go into production on Texas farm this fall, says Stanley. He indicates that there are large amounts of shell eggs and poultry meat in storage and the demand for fresh eggs has been good this spring.

Mary Kathryn Gardner Weds Robert Morrison

In a double ring ceremony Sunday morning at the Hamlin Methodist Church, Mary Kathryn Gardner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Gardner of Hamlin, became the bride of Robert P. Morrison Jr. of Abilene. The rites at 9:00 o'clock were read by Rev. Doyle Ragle, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

Wearing a grey frock with white sailor hat, the bride's bouquet of gardenias was mounted on a white Bible borrowed from Mrs. Ralph McClesky. Frances Nell Gardner, maid-of-honor, wore a pink eyelet embroidered dress with flower hat and carried a bouquet of matching pink carnations.

Dedication Service at First Baptist Church Climaxes BTU Session

Record attendance of 150 at the Sunday evening session of the Baptist Training Union of the Hamlin First Baptist Church was climax to the showing of a special motion picture in the church auditorium, according to Mrs. Lolita Treadwell, BTU director.

General officers of the enlarged BTU work being carried out at the church were principals in a dedication service Monday evening at 8:00 o'clock, when Sue Barksdale of Dallas, state approved Training Union worker, conducted the dedication. A candle-light altar furnished the setting for the impressive ceremony, in which the new officers pledged faithful service to the movement in the local church.

A nice sized crowd attended the dedication ceremonies.

POT-SHOTS FROM MCCAULLEY

BY GEO DARDEN

Mr. and Mrs. N. D. Miers and children of Hobbs spent Sunday in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Miers.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Earl Madden were Sunday afternoon visitors in the home of her mother, Mrs. Vera Jayroe.

Jim Fancher, Harvey Hennington and George Darden attended the barbecue at the Hamlin Cooperative Oil Mill last Thursday. It was a grand feed.

Mr. and Mrs. Leldon Clifton were visitors last week in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Rector.

A large part of the folks of this community will attend the rodeo at Stamford this week. Too hot to play on the Fourth!

Wayne Webb and Doc Lawlis went to Lima, Ohio, last week and returned with two new school buses for McCaulley. They report a nice trip. They visited Chicago and other large cities on their trip.

Mrs. Wayne Webb and sons spent last week with her sister in Oklahoma.

Mrs. W. C. Jackson has resigned as teacher of the Kingdom Builders Sunday School class at the Baptist Church and Mrs. Cecil Woods was elected as teacher.

Mary Ann McCollum, a McMurry College student, spent Sunday in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Levi McCollum.

Billie Max Waldrop, who has been employed in Abilene for the past several years, is spending his vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Waldrop.

Mr. and Mrs. George Morgan of College Station visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Miers last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Davison of Gainesville visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Davison, last week.

Senator Pappy, skilled in ignorance, took the floor in Washington last week for an eight-hour talk against OPA. And to think he made the poor and the old folks cry on each other's shoulders a few years back, and now he is stabbing them in the back.

Comment No. 1.—Yes, some of the folks who have been advocating the discontinuing of OPA may well be on their way to having their wishes come true as well as seeing their bank accounts reduced to rubbish. This column has preached all along, as you will agree, that OPA is all that saved this nation from total ruin during the past four years. We need OPA now as never before, even though Senator Pappy says we don't. Remember how a town in Tennessee got wind that OPA had turned butter prices loose and in one day butter jumped to $1.50 per pound? If this government doesn't control prices, especially the price of vital necessities, then we are to see more soup lines in these United States, more bank robberies and crime than was ever known in our history. You had better bombard your congressman with letters and telegrams before we all sink without the help of atomic bombs.

Comment No. 2—We read in the press where Governor Coke Stevenson has made the remark to the press that Jester and Sellers will lead the ticket in the governor's race. How funny! Yes, dear old Coke would like to see such a thing come to pass. He could still control the governor's office with either of his henchman. It's a dead cinch that he is afraid of Rainey or he wouldn't have put out such a statement to the press. Dear old Coke should go back to his big cattle ranch and brew his coffee over a campfire. He has just about drunk up all the coffee in the Austin restaurants and Mr. Rainey will not likely have him out to dinner when he becomes governor of the Lone Star State.—A Darden-O-Gram.

We Have Other Worries Now. Remember when we used to worry about which side our bread was buttered on?

New Insecticide May Be More Potent Than DDT

Development of a new insecticide, benzene hexachloride, which surpasses DDT in some respects, was revealed recently in Washington. Hamlin area cotton producers and others are interested in the announcement that it has greater effectiveness than DDT on flies, according to Department of Agriculture experimenters.

Tests have also shown it to be effective against boll weevils and similar cotton insects.

Popular name for benzene hexachloride is 666, the experimental number it carried during development. It is also called gourdane in England, where it was first used.

way distances from 75 cities to other key points, and a mileage and expense record for use on vacation trips.
